Search Tips

- Scholarships are often awarded for academics, athletics, ethnicity, special interests, religious affiliation and intended college major or field of study.
- Most scholarships do not need to be repaid but some require FAFSA completion.
- Start early! Apply to as many scholarships as you can. You can continue to apply for scholarships throughout college.
- Beware of scams – never pay for a scholarship or provide personal information (social security number, bank account info, etc.)
- Ask around in the community for available scholarships. Do you know a business owner? Do you frequent a restaurant? Go to church or play in a sports league? These are all great places to ask if they provide college scholarships to local students.
